KC Auxiliary News

The Pere Le Duc Ladies Auxiliary held its regular meeting on June 17 with 19 members present. Rev. Father Reed was guest speaker and gave a very interesting talk, his subject being, "The Meaning of a Society." Business of the meeting consisted of final plans for the Saturday night Social and participation of the ladies in Our Lady of the Gulf Church Fair to be held on July 18th and 19th. The auxiliary will be in charge of the Cake Booth again. List of those generous people who in past years have donated cakes to this cause were distributed to the members in order that they may again be called upon for a donation. Since there will be an other meeting prior to the Church Fair, it was decided to wait until that time to ask for volunteers to work at the booth. The ladies were asked for their full cooperation in this matter.

The Saturday night Social, held on June 20, was a grand success. A very nice group of members and their guests were in attendance. General dancing was enjoyed by all present and the highlight of the evening was an impromptu program presented by members of the Auxiliary. A pantomime floor show was skillfully executed by these talented ladies. Their antics caused roars of laughter and applause. Delicious sandwiches were served to those in attendance. Reports are that a wonderful time was had by all.

We wish to take this means to thank the ladies for their

The vast popularity of outdoor cookery in our state and nation has created an expanding market for charcoal and briquettes used by amateur chefs presiding over the backyard barbecue pit. In years past, charcoal was mainly used by industry but now it has become a necessity in many modern households. The briquettes and regular charcoal used brings a good price. Perhaps a good opportunity is being overlooked. Our industrial base might be broadened by establishing more charcoal plants, converting scrub oaks into the popular and profitable briquettes.

Damaging of U. S. Government Signs Is Causing Safety Hazard

Warning signs placed along the Pearl River and Bogue Chitto waterway for the safety of boats and fishermen are being maliciously damaged, an Army Corps of Engineers spokesman said today.

The signs, which warn of turbulent water, are apparently being used as targets by people discharging firearms. Many of the signs use reflective lettering for around-the-clock visibility and therefore are expensive.

The warning signs are on Government property and are placed for the protection of the public. Anyone knowingly defacing or damaging them is subject to arrest and prosecution under Federal laws.

TIME TO HARVEST OATS

It's out harvesting time. Mississippi's oat fields, golden with ripened grain, and following in every breeze that blows, beckons our farmers to the harvest. It's time for the combine to roll.

Farmers are hoping for dry weather and sunshine which are needed for combining this grain. There are a half billion acres ready for harvesting and storage, and the crop is now at its peak of goodness.

Shipped with a combine, the grain is given favorable weather, farmers could put the entire crop into storage in one week. Oat supplies reportedly are only a fraction of the amounts on hand a year ago, so there is need for the new crop. Oats fit into a multiple feed program for a diverse livestock industry.

WE REJECT THIS ROAD TO PEACE

We know that human beings are more than merely particles of matter. Their minds and wills are spiritual. Therefore men are free. To proceed on a purely materialistic basis is to bring certain failure. Peace will never be achieved by world-wide tyranny.

Neither can peace be preserved by a so-called balance of power. History teaches that the balance inevitably shifts—with results such as those experienced in 1914 and 1939.

OUR nation since its beginning has been dedicated to a third method of preserving the peace: a system of order based on law in place of arbitrary force. We believe that man is in his relationship with other men should be governed by justice, that is, by moral or natural law.

The United States was born believing in the law of the free world. It is not difficult to understand why the peoples of the free world recognize force and uphold the rule of law and justice. They respect religion; they recognize moral law; they regard the opinions of other men. As a result, the nations of the free world have not only respected the principles of international law, but they have also brought about a remarkable amount of "peaceful change" to conform to justice and morality.

WE NOW seek to establish a world order in which international law will govern the life between nations. To accomplish this peace through law will take patience and perseverance. There is no nobler mission that our nation could perform. Upon its success may depend the very survival of the human race.

UPWARD MOVEMENT IS INDICATED BY EMPLOYMENT INCREASE

Jackson (Special) — Continued increases in employment indicate an upward movement in Mississippi's prosperity. Marx Huff, executive director for the State Employment Security Commission, said today. However, it was pointed out that most of the gains were seasonal in nature.

Non-agricultural wage and salary employment in Mississippi rose to an all time high for the month of May. The Employment Security Commission report shows there were 383,900 workers in May, an increase of 3,900 wage earners over April and 12,500 more than reported for May last year.

Most of the reported gains were in non-manufacturing industries which reported 268,800 workers on mid-May payrolls—this is 3,600 above April and 5,300 above May 1958. Manufacturing figures show 117,300 for this period, up 300 above April and 7,200 more than May 1958.

Seasonal increases were noted in lumbering and food industries with an additional 200 workers in each field. The apparel industry continued expanding with 500 more workers than was reported in April and 3,500 more than last May. Lumber and wood picked up 2,200 employees, electrical machinery 1,200, with paper and furniture adding 700 each, plus an increase of 500 new workers in non-electrical machinery. Smaller over the year gains occurred in food, textiles and chemicals.

Industries connected with heavy goods lost some ground, with transportation equipment and metals reporting fewer workers than May a year ago. Further cutbacks in shipbuilding after reaching a post-war high in late 1958 accounted for most of this loss. Metals continued at the employment weak spot in manufacturing.

Most of the April to May employment gain is seasonal. Construction picked up with an additional 1,200 more workers as highway work began to reach new records in "dollars under contract." Normal pick-up in trades were also reported during this period. Government employment moved up 1,100 workers, mainly on normal increase in ASC employment for cotton measuring.

MISSISSIPPI FARM BUREAU

Mississippi Farm Bureau is the leading farm organization in the state. It is a non-profit organization, organized to serve the needs of the local state and national organizations.

County Farm Bureau executives and boards of directors, County Farm Bureau officers, including committees working on membership, resolutions and legislation, Farm Bureau women's committee members, and County Farm Bureau secretaries will comprise the group attending.

The conferences will be held at the following locations: Webb, July 7; New Albany, July 8; State College, July 9; Calhoun school, Jones County, July 14; Summit, July 15; and Raymond, July 18.

Information will be presented by the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation for discussion of several key state-level issues of interest to farmers. Included in the program will be discussions of recent changes in agriculture and national legislation.

Official policies of the Mississippi Farm Bureau will be developed and announced in November.

The series of meetings in July will set the stage for the activities of local Farm Bureaus with candidates for political offices in the August elections, for people who will be working on Farm

PART TIME FARMING

State College, Miss.—Part-time farming can be expensive a recent survey shows. The study involved both white and Negro families. Young couples with no farm experience are moving to rural areas to give their children a taste of country living, fresh air and outdoor work. These benefits they can unquestionably obtain. Often, however they expect to look after some farming interests in their spare time and profit from it.

Dr. Dorothy Dickens of the Mississippi Experiment Station conducted a survey of 204 farm families in five counties representing major soil areas of the State. She found little profit and some net loss in part-time farming activities.

"Many of the part-time farmers would have been better off if they had treated their place as a rural residence and forgotten about farming," Dr. Dickens said. "Benefits of fresh air and open spaces could have been theirs without hard work or expense added by farming."

"The land which many of them operate might well be rented or sold to full-time farm families who need to expand so they can afford to mechanize every possible operation."

"The proceeds of shifting away from farming has been observed by all of us. It is a process that we should encourage among part-time farm families who consider farming just a little side line."

Dr. Dickens' report has been published in more detail in the April issue of Mississippi Farm Research. It is available on request from the Experiment Station at State College, Madison, Coahoma, Jeff Davis, Winston and Pontotoc counties were included in the study.

The National Defense Student Loan Program

Pearl River Junior College will have available for the school year 1959-60 Student Loan Funds from the National Defense Student Loan Program.

These Scholarship Loans are available to full-time students enrolled at Pearl River Junior College who need to borrow money in order to pursue their courses of study. The student must be capable of maintaining at least average grades and must also maintain an excellent rating in citizenship.

Special consideration will be given to students with a superior background who express a desire to teach in elementary or high schools of whose academic background indicates a superior capacity in science, mathematics, engineering, or a modern foreign language.

A student may borrow in one year a sum not to exceed $400.00 (based on established need) which amount will pay for all fees, room, board, and books for one year.

The borrower must sign a note for the loan evidencing his obligation and agreeing to interest and repayment terms established for the loan.

Repayment of the loan begins one year after the borrower ceases to be a full-time student and must be completed in ten years. No interest may accrue prior to the beginning of the repayment schedule, and interest thereafter is to be paid at the rate of 3 per cent per year. The borrower's obligation to repay the loan is canceled in the event of his death or permanent and total disability.

The National Defense Education act provides also that up to 50 per cent of a loan, plus interest, may be canceled in the event a borrower becomes a full-time teacher in a public elementary or high school, at the rate of 10 per cent a year up to five years.

Student interested in knowing more about the National Defense Student Loan Program should contact President G. H. Johnston, Pearl River Junior College, Poplarville, Miss.

New Record in Free Farm Enrollment

Jackson, Miss.—A group of 125 doctors, teachers, merchants, farmers and salesmen have declared their forest lands to continuous timber production, thus setting a new record in the farm program of Mississippi.

Jim Craig of Jackson, State Forest Ranger, said that this is the largest number of properties to be certified as tree farms during any one month in the history of the program in Mississippi.

Since 1944 the tree farm program has been sponsored in this state by the Mississippi Forestry Association, an organization of individuals and companies interested in better forestry.

Craig said that the tree farmers were enrolled locally by county tree farm committees composed of personnel of the various agricultural and forestry agencies and wood-using industries.

"Any timberland owner who is properly managing and protecting this timber is invited to join the tree farm program," Craig said. Full information is available from local committee members or from the Mississippi
Forestry Association, Suite 477,
King Edward Hotel, Jackson,
Miss.

Mississippi now has 1725 tree farms representing 2,346,761 acres.
